■ BY DAVID PRITCHARD

GOLF'S Open Championship is coming back to the Royal St George's Club at Sandwich.

The announcement, made yesterday at the St George's club itself, is fantastic news for the east Kent economy, which is set to benefit to the tune of some £20 million.

The club will host the four-day event in 2011 and local businesses can expect a bumper windfall.

On the last occasion Royal St George's staged the Open, four years ago, 183,000 people flocked to Sandwich – an increase of 50 per cent on its previous visit in 1993 and 23,000 above the predicted attendance.

David Hill, director of championships for the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St Andrews, which organises the tournament, said the course was outstanding. "We are delighted that the Open is returning to Sandwich," he said.

"It is a huge undertaking and the R&A would therefore like to thank the club for their co-operation, which has enabled the championship to return to this fine venue."

A report commissioned by Dover council into the championship's impact said the 2003 event had generated £17.6 million additional spending in east Kent and created thousands of temporary jobs.

Occupancy rates jumped from a July average of 76 per cent to 94 per cent and more than half the area's hotels were booked out by golf visitors.

The Open is one of the most high-profile events on the sporting calendar. In 2005, television coverage from St Andrews was beamed to 194 countries. The 2011 event will be the 14th time the event has visited St George's.

The previous Open in Sandwich saw a huge upset when world number 396 Ben Curtis lifted the famous claret jug.

College set for £43m move to Westwood

■ BY TOM BETTS

THE relocation of Thanet College looks all set to go ahead.

Pending Government approval, the Broadstairs-based college will move to an out-of-town £43 million campus at Millennium Way, Westwood, by 2011.

The move would see the college built near Canterbury Christ Church University's Thanet campus.

Land to the rear of Tesco Extra on the Thanet Reach Business Park has been earmarked for the development.

College principal Sue Buss said: "We are delighted the council has chosen to support the college's relocation and we look forward to working closely with them to ensure that all objections from and fears of local people are allayed."

"We will be able to take in 19 per cent more learners – that equates to 260 more young people from Thanet being in education, and 140 of those are expected to come from a group not currently in education."

The college, currently situated in a converted convalescent home in the listed Yarrow building on Ramsgate Road, spends thousands of pounds a year renting other sites in which to teach, as its 11-acre site is too small for its needs.

Mrs Buss said: "It's a Grade II-listed building with limited flexibility. It has out-of-date facilities, is expensive to maintain and has limited capacity to expand."

ON SITE: The former Yarrow convalescent home has been home to Thanet College since the 1960s

Plans for the new campus include a six-storey main building, hair and beauty salons and sports areas including an all-weather pitch – a facility the college has never before had.

Director of finance Karen Pilgrim said: "We're very pleased to get to this stage. This is something we have worked towards for a long time. It will enable us to use more hi-tech equipment and will be a benefit for everyone."

The move was recommended for approval by Thanet District

Council last week but must now be approved by the Government's Office for the South East.

Mrs Buss spoke for three minutes at the council meeting and was keen to calm any fears that the new development would exacerbate traffic problems in the area.

She said: "We are aware of issues surrounding traffic in the Westwood area and we are having ongoing discussions with officers from both Thanet council and the county council – we hope and believe these concerns can be met."

yourthanet NEWS IN BRIEF

Dreamland film will air on national TV

EXODUS, the feature film shot mainly in Margate, receives its British TV premiere next month.

The film, starring Margate rapper Anthony Johnson and many other locals, airs on Channel Four on Monday, November 19, at 9pm.

Critically acclaimed at the recent Venice Film Festival and inspired by the Old Testament Book of Exodus, the production crew used Dreamland and other local spots during filming.

Cameras catch 600 offenders each year

CCTV cameras in Thanet lead to some 600 arrests each year.

The 84 cameras, now in their 10th year, record for 24 hours a day and lead to about 300 arrests and 300 further investigations a year, according to Thanet council.

One arrest in Cliftonville led to a rape conviction.

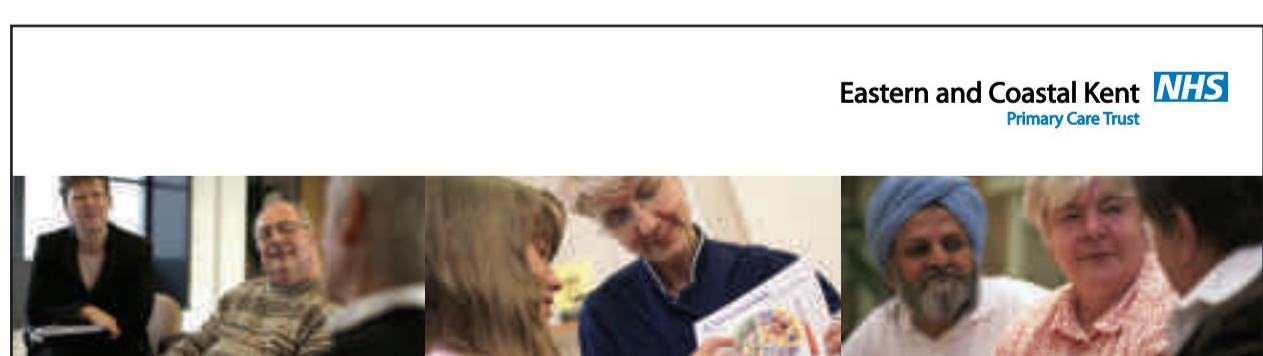

The team of CCTV operators has received two commendations from Kent police for its efforts.

Old sports shop to become Madhouse

THE site of the old Warreners sports shop in Margate High Street is to become a two-floor pub.

The new watering hole will be called The Madhouse and has been given planning permission and a licence by Thanet council.

It will have an automatic noise limiter device fitted to the amplifiers, which will shut down when the volume rises above an agreed level. The shop is currently empty.

My mum Diana was a genuine English icon

Island boy keeps Dors memory alive

WITH lounge music a current favourite with fans of easy listening, the reissue of a classic 1964 album by blonde bombshell Diana Dors is well timed.

Swingin' Dors, released this week on Sanctuary Records, showcases the British songbird who was once hailed as this country's answer to Marilyn Monroe.

And her son, Jason Dors Lake – who lives in Broadstairs – has taken the opportunity to pay tribute to the "English icon", born Diana Mary Fluck, who died of cancer in 1984.

The tragedy was followed just five months later when Jason's father, Alan Lake, committed suicide.

The double family disaster sparked a wave of excess and partying from Jason.

But now settled in Thanet with girlfriend Marcella Trowell, Diana's son said how pleased he was that his mother's music was in the spotlight again.

■ BY NICK AMES

"Lounge music's big at the moment, so it'll be nice for people to hear these tunes again," he said.

"I do feel slightly responsible for keeping her memory alive.

"My mum needs to be remembered because there are pictures of Marilyn Monroe and Elvis all over the place, but she was a true English icon.

"We're becoming ever more culturally Americanised and it's worth holding on to the stars we do have."

After Diana's marriage to Alan Lake – her third husband – Jason was born while the family were living in Sunningdale, Berkshire.

The mansion was famous for its parties amid black marble and fake leopard fur décor.

"I just assumed it was normal to wake up in the morning and find Dad and Oliver Reed in the front room still up from the night before," said Jason.

"Richard Harris was round quite a lot too and I remember Keith Moon as well.

"He had this coat that was full of pockets on the inside.

"I was fascinated by it and started pulling out all these different things – packets of this, bags of that and was quickly told No, no Jason – put that away!"

But Jason remembers Diana as a very good mother.

He said: "She was very caring.

"She always picked me up from school and was never late. She was just like any other mother really – except people asked her for autographs."

Jason said the family's two tragedies came at an impressionable time of his life.

He said: "I was only just starting to realise that growing up like that wasn't normal. But they died just as I was about to ask loads of questions."

Sparky investment

ENERGY firm EDF is spending £778,000 on upgrading high-voltage power lines and equipment.

Six kilometres of 132,000-volt power lines between Thanet and Richborough, near Sandwich, will be replaced during the upgrade.

Senior project manager Ray Templeman said: "This work represents a major investment in maintaining and improving the energy infrastructure in the Thanet area."

Work should take about two weeks to complete and EDF expects no disruption to the electricity supply of the 70,000 homes for which the lines provide power.

Inquest hears tributes to son

■ BY TOM BETTS

THE father of a Pfizer employee who ended his own life has paid an emotional tribute to his son at an inquest.

Paul Court told the coroner's court in Broadstairs on Tuesday last week how his son Daniel Court had come back to live with him and his wife on the day before his death.

Depression had led Daniel to take an overdose of pills, including mood-stabiliser Lithium and insomnia drug Zopiclone, a few days earlier.

Appointment

Mr Court had not wanted his son to leave for an appointment with therapists at his workplace on the morning of March 22, but Daniel had insisted on attending.

Daniel, of Briary Close, Margate, drove into a tree at the junction of Cottingham Road and Ebbsfleet Lane in Cliffs End that morning.

It was a route that he had often used to travel to work each day.

In statements read out by assistant deputy coroner James Dillon, witnesses told how they arrived on the scene shortly after the crash but were unable to revive the 33-year-old as he sat motionless in the driver's seat.

Daniel's father-in-law, Arthur Fitt, father of Mr Court's widow Amanda Court, also paid tribute to the deceased.

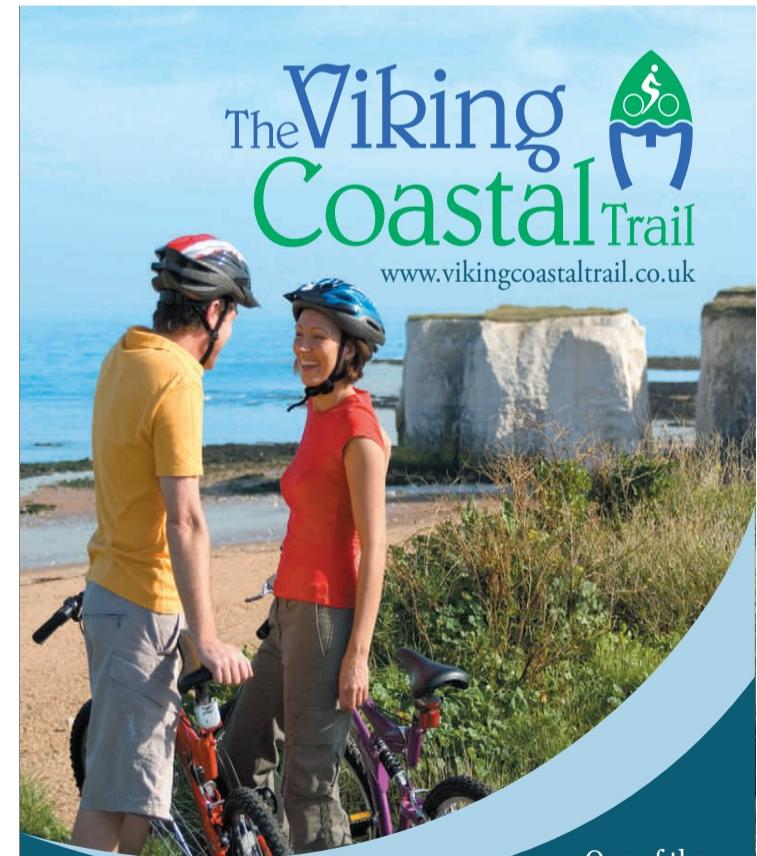

He said: "Daniel was a good son-in-law and I don't believe he would have intentionally caused the grief this appears to have done."

In conclusion, Mr Dillon, who said there was no evidence that Daniel had tried to avoid the tree or that he had tried to brake, said: "Faced with the evidence, it's clear Daniel was in a disturbed state of mind."

He added: "I'm persuaded more to the view he took his own life. That is what the evidence points me to."

"I pay my condolences to all of you on your loss."

Mr Dillon recorded a verdict of suicide.

Study takes in county's walks

A FOUR-YEAR survey of the countryside will mean better access for walkers wanting to enjoy the footpaths and views of the county. The study – the first of its kind in the UK – was carried out by Kent County Council.

It took in every part of the county's 4,200 miles of public right of way.

The public will soon be able to see the results on KCC's Explore Kent website.

A team of surveyors used hand-held GPS technology to collect the data which identified the exact locations and position of all footpaths as well as details such as stiles and gates.

KCC's Keith Ferrin said: "We are the first county in England to conduct such an extensive survey and it is an amazing achievement. The information we have gathered is an extremely valuable asset which will help us manage the county's rights of way."

'Fool' smashed car window

AFTER a row with his girlfriend, Travis Peck decided he wanted his jumper back, so he smashed his girlfriend's car window to get it.

The argument started when Peck, 23, got a text message from an ex-girlfriend which was found by his current partner.

It escalated to the point that Peck, of West Cliff Road, Broadstairs, smashed the quarter light to get his jumper, Thanet magistrates heard.

Giving Peck a one-year conditional discharge, magistrates' chairman George Green said: "You've been a bit of a fool. It is an expensive fool you are."

He then ordered Peck to pay £300 compensation and £45 costs.

Early autumn is a prime time to be riding the Thanet surf

Gala night is new-look theatre's curtain-raiser

A ONE-OFF gala night to celebrate the reopening of Margate's Theatre Royal will signal the rebirth of one of Thanet's best-loved venues.

Following six months of renovations to the country's second oldest theatre, thespians will once again be treading the boards, and on Saturday's gala night they will be presenting 10-minute snippets of the new season's upcoming shows to the audience.

Among the evening's performers will be Perrier Award-winning comics Priorité a Gauche, along with comic and double-bass wizard, Jim Tavaré, who also starred as Tom the Barman in Harry Potter and The Prisoner of Azkaban.

There will also be star turns from Helen Watson, Tony Award-winner Sarah Travis and her amazing singing divas and Propellor, the all-male Shakespearean company.

The Grade II-listed theatre's renovation has included structural repairs to the roof and redecoration, as well as many other improvements.

■ BY TOM BETTS

The Georgian theatre's new – and highly enthusiastic – artistic director Will Wollen is eagerly awaiting Saturday's reopening and he is encouraging the people of Thanet along to see the start of the theatre's new era for themselves.

He said: "The gala night should be great – we have a new exciting season coming up and a huge mix of shows and acts to look forward to. This will be a fine way to show people what is coming up.

"The relaunch will offer an evening of fun, laughter, music, celebration and much more."

Of the refurbishment, he said: "It looks a lot smarter and fresher – the work was much needed really.

"We have new lavatories, freshly painted walls and now we're looking forward to some quality entertainment."

Will, himself an actor and director, added: "We're determined to make sure the theatre becomes an important cultural centre in east Kent and Thanet, and we're making sure people know everyone is welcome here."

"It doesn't matter if you're a seasoned theatre-goer, an occasional visitor, or whether you're a complete beginner – we're just hoping people will come and celebrate with us."

Among the upcoming shows will be an adaptation of Homer's The Odyssey starting this October. It will be starring actors from Thanet and has been scripted by Mr Wollen.

There will also be a traditional Christmas pantomime, Sleeping Beauty. Rehearsals start next week.

Tickets for the gala night cost £15 and are available from The Marlowe Theatre box office on 01227 787787. For Friends of the Theatre Royal, tickets are £12.50.

IS CAMPAIGNER DAVE AMUSED?

DREAMLAND amusement park is up for sale... and there can't be many people on the island who haven't got an opinion on the once-legends site.

Dave Collard, of the Save Dreamland Campaign, certainly has more than most to say on the subject – as you might expect.

He, like the rest of us, now has to await the outcome of talks between the Margate Town Centre Regeneration Company, which owns the Dreamland site, and Paigle Properties, the firm which acquired the Royal Sea Bathing Hospital in nearby Westbrook and the Lido in Cliftonville.

A deal could be tied up as early as October, although MTCRC says it is still pursuing its own planning permission with Thanet council.

Many island residents would like to see some form of leisure attraction remain at Dreamland, and the local authority is in the process of consulting on its own ideas for the place.

It has proposed a heritage theme park made up of old funfair rides, along with flats.

TOWERING TALENT: Augustus Pugin's former home The Grange has been fully booked by guests until next Easter

Grange is a grand hit for Pugin buffs

■ BY TOM BETTS

IT'S costing them close to £1,000 for a three-night visit, but tourists and architecture buffs are queuing up to stay at The Grange.

Despite the undeniably steep prices, bookings to stay at what is probably Ramsgate's most revered building are flooding in to The Landmark Trust, which owns the building.

The trust completed a restoration project last year, providing a perhaps unexpected boon to Ramsgate's tourist industry.

The Grange is currently booked solid until Easter next year and has been inundated with guests since they started to arrive in July 2006.

Anglo-French architect Augustus Charles Pugin was the man behind The Grange. He built the house as a family home during 1843-44, and fans of his work have been among those to visit the house keen to take in its style, layout and design.

The Landmark Trust's Emma Hillier said: "It has been almost completely booked up since opening. It's so popular that it's full until next Easter next year."

"The easy access to London, its history and the fact that Augustus Pugin built and lived in the house make it unique and highly desirable to stay in." Her colleague Katherine Oakes added: "We always thought it would be popular, given its association with such an historical figure and its location, but it has exceeded expectations.

"It's currently one of our most popular places to stay and it will be interesting to see what happens after the building has been open for a while.

"The feedback has been excellent. A couple of comments from the visitors' logbook read 'Difficult to describe adequately – a privilege to be here and soak up the atmosphere'."

Prices for a midweek stay in the Gothic house start at £482 for four nights, and punters need to stump up £954 for a weekend, but the demand to stay within its Pugin-designed walls is huge.

The Grange overlooks the Goodwin Sands, although it is the "pioneering design" of the building that is reckoned to be the real lure.

The Landmark Trust acquired The Grange in 1996, with work to renovate the property starting in 2004.

Bookings for The Grange can be made through The Landmark Trust's website at www.landmarktrust.org.uk.

Residents air views on estate's future

THE people of Ramsgate's Newington estate got to have their say about what they would like from their new community centre last week.

At a well-attended open day, residents, councillors and children told Yourthanet about their hopes, fears and expectations for the often-maligned estate and what they would like to see when builders Town and Country begin their redevelopment of the centre.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Huge glasshouse scheme will deliver range of veg

A GIANT complex of glasshouses is to be built near Birchington at a cost of some £80 million.

It is estimated that the fruit and vegetable-growing plant, entitled Thanet Earth, will create some 550 jobs.

The project will take up 91 hectares of agricultural land between Birchington and St Nicholas-at-Wade. Seven glasshouses will be built to grow tomatoes, peppers and cucumbers, which will be packed on site.

Paddock Wood-based Fresca Group is behind the massive development; it says the latest techniques will ensure the project is as environmentally friendly as possible.

Each glasshouse will cover an area the size of 10 football pitches and a gas-powered generator will provide enough electricity to power the plant, with excess being sold to the national grid.

"We are calling it Thanet Earth because that emphasises the environmental angle," said Fresca spokesman Judy Whittaker.

"The plan is to start working on the land in October and then next March the glasshouses will go up."

MP heads bid to make island a greener place

STEVE LADYMAN, South Thanet MP, is heading a campaign to help his community be more environmentally friendly.

The MP is joining local Labour party members in delivering surveys to each house in the area asking people how they feel about green issues and asking them for feedback on how they can make efforts to be more environmentally friendly.

Dr Ladyman said: "The South Thanet Labour party is determined to show leadership on green issues and do our bit to make the area greener."

Woman flees blaze as alarms avert tragedy

SMOKE alarms saved a woman from a tragedy when her kitchen caught fire.

The woman, who lives in West Park Avenue, Margate, had to flee her bungalow after hearing the alarms. The blaze was put out by firemen.

She is staying with relatives until her home is refurbished.

Kent Fire & Rescue Service fitted the alarms in June as part of routine checks.

Margate's watch manager Steve Flint said: "This highlights the importance of smoke alarms. We urge all residents to take up our free fitting service."

To request a free safety check, or for more information, phone 0800 923 7000.

QUESTION & ANSWER

RICHARD LAWSON

Q&A

The chairman of Ramsgate Football Club talks about life in Thanet, the negative people who fail to realise how good they've got it in the area, and the important role his club plays in the community

Q Whereabouts in Thanet do you spend most of your time?

A At our offices in Ramsgate where my company is based, and up at the football club in Prices Avenue.

Q What originally brought you to the area?

A My parents moved to Garlinge in 1960 from south-east London when my father set up in business.

Q What do you like about Thanet?

A Growing up in Thanet was good because of Dreamland being in full swing – and of course the beaches in the summer holidays. I particularly remember how busy the whole area was with holidaymakers. Everybody seemed to be enjoying themselves. As an adult I think that the road network has improved to an extent that it is now within easy reach of London and yet is a short drive to the country.

Q Are there any aspects of Thanet that you dislike?

A I certainly think that a great deal of people can be very negative about the area.

Having worked all around the country, I believe most people don't realise how lucky they are to be here. I also dislike the drink and drugs culture that seems to be growing, but I guess that is a problem you will find in most places these days.

Q In what ways do you think the football club of which you are chairman benefits the area?

A Ramsgate Football Club has been in existence for more than 100 years and this, I believe, is the most successful sustained period it has ever had. We have youth teams and ladies' teams and have become a real community club, with hundreds of youngsters all learning to improve their skills and football in general. I think that we play a massive role in the area and are helping put it on the map.

Q How do you rate Ramsgate's chances in the Ryman Premier this season?

A Well, we've had a fairytale start, but there are a lot bigger teams in our league, so it's always going to be hard. However, this year I feel we have the best squad we have ever had, and maybe, if the team keep playing the way they are, we may have a chance. We have a game against Hendon this week – if we win that, then we could go top of the league, although it's very early in the season yet.

Q What do you like to do in your spare time?

A Most of my spare time is taken up with organising and running the football club as well, of course, as watching the games we are involved in. I also breed cagebirds, a hobby I inherited from my father, and I have one of the top strains in the country. Over the years I have won a number of major awards at national shows when showing my birds, so I'm proud of that. We have never been big on holidays, but my wife and I have recently bought a place in France and try to get a few weekend breaks there when we can.

Q Give me your views on the future of the area

A I think more should be done to tackle unemployment in the area as I see too many kids hanging around wasting their lives. I know it's something that's easy to say, but I'm afraid I don't have a quick solution.

Q What changes would you like to see happen in Thanet over the next few years?

A I think we need to be careful that the high street shops don't die off with the big stores moving into the area, but in the main I think it's not a bad place to be, really.

Fury over ex-star's new blow

MP JULIAN BRAZIER says he is "horrified" after Home Office chiefs rejected former Kent cricket star Hartley Alleyne's latest bid to remain in the country.

Despite living in the UK for almost 30 years, the ex-West Indies player saw his second attempt for a permit rejected.

It means Mr Alleyne, who works as a teacher at St Edmund's School in Canterbury and has three children, could be deported within 28 days.

Now the Conservative politician has called on immigration minister Liam Byrne to personally intervene and overrule the latest decision.

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

He has called for an urgent meeting with the minister and penned a strongly-worded letter outlining his dismay.

Barbados-born Mr Alleyne, 50, was originally told he could be slung out of the country in May because he did not hold the relevant qualifications.

He has subsequently achieved the NVQ requested – but still faces deportation.

In his letter to Mr Byrne, Mr Brazier said: "Following our exchange on the residential status of Hartley Alleyne I was horrified to hear that he has been turned down for a work permit, despite having achieved the NVQ which was mooted.

"He has been in this country for 29 years, with a few gaps, and has children who are British citizens here."

The Home Office's decision is based on rules that state a work permit will only be granted if an employer can demonstrate the post requires a NVQ Level 3, HND or degree qualification.

Despite the fact that Mr Alleyne gained an NVQ qualification over the summer, it remains the case that his job at St Edmund's School does not require this level of training.

Mr Alleyne has not been allowed to work at St Edmund's since his first application was turned down in April, but the school has continued to let him stay. But now it is no longer allowed to employ him, he will have to move out of his home and could be deported any time from October.

NO REPRIEVE: Mr Alleyne faces deportation despite living in the UK for the past 30 years

County town club will be an Ikon for clubbing

THE clubbing scene in the county town is set to be transformed when Ikon reopens in November after a £3 million upgrade.

The new 1,800-capacity club has had a complete refit and will be relaunched as Liquid and Envy.

The Lockmeadow Leisure Complex in Barker Road will be split into two rooms, with a number of unique party booths overlooking the dance floor.

For an exclusive look inside the club, go to Yourkenttv.co.uk and the community channel.

Spurs founder gets recognition at last

A CEREMONY this week gave deserved recognition to the founder of Tottenham Hotspur FC who lies in a pauper's grave in Dover.

The Reverend John Ripsher founded the Premiership club to get youngsters of 19th-century London off the streets.

He lost his sight and died in a workhouse 100 years ago this month and his remains are buried in St Mary's Cemetery.

Spurs executive director Paul Barber and Steve Ripsher, a descendant, were present.

Islamic state school could be set up in county

MUSLIM community leaders are calling for a state-funded Islamic school to be set up to serve the county.

Anwar Khan, of the Kent Muslim Welfare Association, said hundreds of children were being deprived of an education in a specialist faith school.

Kent County Council has offered help but said a state-funded school would have to follow the national curriculum and there would have to be enough children wanting to attend for it to be set up.

NORMAL LIFE: Virus almost killed little Amber

Pacemaker that let Amber live

TODDLER Amber Howe is set to live a normal life just three months after a heart blockage almost killed her.

The two-year-old became the second youngest person in the UK ever fitted with a pacemaker after she stopped breathing while she slept.

Within hours she was undergoing surgery at a top London hospital where surgeons inserted the electronic device to control her heartbeat.

And this week doctors have told her mum Ali that the operation was a total success and little Amber will be able to live a normal life.

"It was the worst night of my life and we are all so relieved Amber has pulled through," said Ali, who lives in Sittingbourne.

Doctors say Amber had a heart blockage as a result of a simple but potentially deadly virus. Like thousands of children, she was off her food and a little tired, but her mum thought it was just a normal childhood illness.

But the Myocarditis virus inflames the heart wall, causing chest pain and an abnormal heartbeat.

In severe cases, like Amber's, it weakens the heart's pump action and starves the body of oxygen-rich blood, leading to a stroke or heart attack.

Ted cooks up fresh line for Baker boys and girls

WITH designer names becoming more accessible on the high street, even children are getting in on the act.

Ted Baker has created a range of childrenswear for Designers at Debenhams, inspired by his irreverence and quirky attention to detail. The Baker Boy and Baker Girl range features rich colours contrasted with bright and retro prints.

You can get your hands on the new range at Debenhams or online at www.debenhams.com.

Hattersley looks back on wartime Britain

FORMER cabinet minister Roy Hattersley will be giving a talk about his new book at Waterstone's in Canterbury on Wednesday, October 3.

Borrowed Time: The Story of Britain Between The Wars, explores the tumultuous time when British people had to cope with many crises in short succession.

The talk will start at 6.30pm and tickets, costing £3, can be bought at the shop or by phoning 01227 456343.

Free cut and blow-dry for all loyal customers

BEAUTY company Harrison's Hair Team is celebrating 16 years in business with a new loyalty card scheme.

Repeat clients are being offered a free cut and blow-dry for every nine visits, spending £25 or more, to say thank you.

Customers at the salon in Evgate, near Ashford, were offered Champagne and chocolates during a week-long party earlier this month.

For more information, visit the website at www.harrisonshairteam.co.uk.

Poptastic Tony to make Bluewater appearance

LEGENDARY broadcaster Tony Blackburn will be signing copies of his new book in Waterstone's at Bluewater on Tuesday, October 2.

Poptastic! My Life In Radio tells the story of Tony's humble beginnings at Radio Caroline South to becoming one of the country's leading DJs and gaining a new generation of fans as the winner of TV reality show I'm A Celebrity... in 2002.

Tony will be appearing at the store from 6.30pm.

Enjoy a special eerie evening

THE spookiest night of the year is fast approaching, so when the ghosts and ghouls come out to play, be prepared to be scared silly.

This Halloween, Anchor iScream Real Dairy Cream is teaming up with your new local paper to offer five lucky kids a blinding Halloween bash.

You'll have everything you need to throw your little monster and seven fellow fiends a ghoulish get-together, including eerie invites, devilish decorations, a spine-chilling skeleton straight from the closet, some frightening fangs, a monstrous mask and some terrific treat bags, not to mention a limited edition Anchor iScream kid's apron for some freaky fun with Mum in the kitchen. Just try not to scream, or should that be iScream?!

In the meantime, why not celebrate Halloween by conjuring up some devilishly delicious desserts and sweet treats? The limited edition Anchor iScream has been created just for Halloween.

Fun and easy to use, it even comes in a spooky can to make sure that the ghosts and ghouls come straight to your table this October. And if you're stuck for inspiration, why not visit www.anchorsquirmymoments.co.uk for fun recipes to try out, plus some super scary tips on how to make this Halloween a spooky night you'll never forget? You'll also be able to keep your little monsters entertained with ghoulishly good games and creepy things to craft - fridge monsters, a ghost train, scary masks and much more. Who needs trick or treating when you can stay in and enjoy all the treats with Anchor iScream?

To enter, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your e-mail address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to Anchor iScream comp, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR.

Closing date is October 12, 2007.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living on the Isle of Thanet...

Living in the shadow of the FOR SALE banner

IF Thanet is 'up and coming', as we keep being told, then why do so many people want to leave?

Perhaps they do not want to leave. Perhaps it is just me. It seems half the properties in some streets display FOR SALE signs – I always wonder why all the locals are fleeing.

This paranoia – that all the neighbours know something I don't – has been particularly strong since I moved from Margate to the West Cliff of Ramsgate.

Margate is up and coming – perhaps I just moved out just at the wrong time. Even worse, no sooner had we unloaded the lorry than every other house in London Road, Ramsgate, was FOR SALE.

I conclude the impact of the estate agent placard is to make people panic. Thankfully, peace has finally descended on the neighbourhood. Most of the boards say SOLD. What a relief, some people really do want to live around here.

Those who are genuinely seeking to buy a property look in the local newspaper, search the internet and take a walk down 'estate agent lane'. Am I alone in thinking FOR SALE placards are unnecessary? Estate agents are competing with each other to display the greatest number of boards. If they all agreed to abandon this annoying advertising, what would happen?

I can only imagine a positive impact: environmental; advertising costs; reduced gossip about the asking price of our neighbours' houses; improvement in the street landscape; and, finally, I may feel a little less stressed.

Some of my anxiety was misplaced. Not all the boards out there are advertising estate agents, for not all the homes are for sale.

These houses are being lovingly maintained by their owners – just the sort of neighbours we want. They are so proud of their new soffit and fascia that they have put up boards in the front garden to tell all passers-by about it. It really makes you want to look up and admire their eaves.

I am quite proud of my bathroom, but as our garden is such a mess I cannot display a tribute to our indoor achievement. New driveway is next, honest.

Being me, I cannot help wondering if I am the only person who realises these placards are illegal. According to The Town and Country Planning (Control of Advertisements) Regulations 1992, if you want to display an advert on your property, it must be inside and at least one metre from the front door or windows.

Outside, you can display a national flag and the regulations are specific about the flagpole. You can also advertise a forthcoming election.

Estate agents do have special permission to advertise – only one board per property which must be removed within 14 days of the completion of the sale or letting.

That is interesting. Tenants do not have to live under the constant banner of the agent who arranged the tenancy – and why should they?

Tradesmen or companies working at a property can put up a temporary board which they must remove when they leave.

Many readers may suspect I do not have enough to do if I worry about such trivia – but I think the banners outside so many properties are a blot on the landscape of our beautiful isle and an eyesore which clutters our streets.

TALK TIME

IAN JOHNSTON

The principal of Ramsgate's Marlowe Academy reveals how a revolutionary approach is changing life for pupils - and indeed for Thanet

Tell us about what you do here in Thanet

I'm principal of the Marlowe Academy in Stirling Way, Ramsgate, the school that replaced the Ramsgate School in September, 2005. As principal I have worked with Roger De Haan and other trustees in shaping the vision for the new school and for implementing the changes we have introduced as part of our very different way of working. Our student day runs from 8.30am through to 5pm. All students have a daily study session and so do not normally go home with homework. Our lessons are two hours long with a break in the middle. Revolutionary stuff, but it's working. Results are up, numbers are up in year seven and the sixth form, and we have a reputation for innovation and community involvement.

How do you think Thanet benefits from having the Marlowe Academy in the area?

Thanet benefits hugely from having Kent's first academy. Most people will realise the stigma of the Ramsgate School is now well gone. Our students are motivated, working hard, and our first six youngsters go off to university this autumn. Ofsted commented on the quality of teaching and learning as being good. But there is a lot more to it than just our success as a school. We are expected to develop new ways of working that other schools can develop to suit their own context. One or two local schools have already begun to teach beyond 4pm. Aspects of our uniform are being copied. There is also a growing emphasis upon being an 'extended school' in the new building plans being worked up for other Thanet secondary schools. We also play a role in supporting Kent and Thanet councils in helping to regenerate the area. Our athletics track will be open for community use.

Getting on my smoking platform

Firstly, congratulations on producing a very readable publication.

As a regular daily commuter to London Victoria, I was furious after reading the article last week about the potential lifting of the smoking ban on open-air station platforms.

After spending many years enduring wafts of smoke drifting down the platforms from inconsiderate smokers, it came as a great relief in July when smoking was finally banned from stations.

When you are standing next to a smoker it makes no difference whether the platform is in the open air or not. Smoke invariably gets blown down the platform into your face - not a pleasant experience at 6.30 in the morning!

It is absolute rubbish to say it is the stress of commuting that is driving this request. In my experience the services are actually now very reliable - I always get a seat and the services are rarely late.

May I suggest to the stressed smokers that they lower their blood pressure by quitting their revolting habit, get some exercise to relieve the stress, and give some consideration to us non-smokers who have finally got some relief from your anti-social habit.

BOB'S BROADBAND TV

BOB GELDOF has launched Kent TV - the UK's first county council-funded, on-demand broadband television channel.

The anti-poverty campaigner has lived in Kent for more than 20 years and is co-founder of Ten Alps, the media company which won the contract to operate the station for Kent County Council.

He joined council leader Cllr Paul Carter, Nigel Dacre, managing director of Ten Alps, and Tanya Oliver, KCC's head of strategic development unit, on Friday at Maidstone Studios for the official launch.

The service will be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, at www.KentTV.com and has commissioned seven local production companies to produce 28 films.

Sir Bob said: "It's pretty cool - it's very experimental and potentially very interesting."

It comes just two weeks after KOS Media launched its own broadband TV service for the county alongside a line-up of new newspapers and websites, including Yourthanet.

the UK is a dirty word. Thousands of jobs have gone throughout the country and we don't seem to make anything any more.

The Labour government must take some of the blame for the lack of any hope of finding jobs today.

Note how quick MPs Steve Ladyman and Gwynn Prosser were to jump on the bandwagon when Pfizer recently announced its job cuts.

"So sorry to hear about job cuts" my foot! Both are fighting for their seats at the next general election.

There is no hope of replacing these well-paid jobs for life.

Pfizer won't need the new road - maybe one of its labs could be used as a job centre.

Four hundred and twenty jobs? It's a much bigger picture - taxi drivers to Sandwich's snack bars; coach drivers to Sandwich; pubs, shops, hotels - it affects everyone.

Sandwich is becoming a ghost town, with trade flocking to the concrete sheds at Westwood. There needs to be a rethink of the whole question of Pfizer - it has been very good for the whole area from Thanet to Dover.

Please, Steve and Gwyn, don't jump on the bandwagon - it's bad enough about the dreadful news.

Employed people are in the real world with its pitfalls. I only hope some are of retiring age, but for those with families it's bleak. What a Christmas present!

Pfizer, good staff are hard to come by, so think again.

Help save your local TV coverage

As your readers may be aware, ITV has announced plans to change its regional news coverage and scrap its three editions of Meridian Tonight, replacing them with one programme covering an area from Southend in Essex to Weymouth in Dorset.

We believe this will provide viewers with a much poorer service, ending the dedicated, award-winning, programme for Kent and Sussex.

We would ask any readers who share this view to express their opinion to their local MP and to the broadcasting regulator Ofcom.

The regulator can be contacted by email at PSBReview@ofcom.org.uk.

As part of the complement of media outlets in Kent, like the papers in the KOS Media group (publishers of Yourthanet), we believe the public in our area currently receives a first-class service, but this is one which will be damaged if these plans go ahead.

Ofcom claims to place great weight on the opinions of the public it is meant to serve, and we believe cervical screening. The new bowel cancer screening test has the potential to save thousands more men and women across the UK. But we know that even more lives could be saved.

Millions of eligible people are not being screened for cancer and we want to see politicians taking action.

As a bowel cancer survivor and campaigner, I know only too well how vital it is to catch cancer in the early stages. This means treatment is simpler and more likely to be effective.

Please help Cancer Research UK put pressure on politicians to provide the best possible screening programmes by signing our petition at www.cancercampaigns.org.uk.

But it's not just down to the

that the views of Yourthanet readers can help stop this proposal.

Ramsgate FC move holds the key

The best thing for the people of Ramsgate and Thanet is to move Ramsgate Football Club from Southwood to the swimming pool site in Newington Road.

The Southwood site could then be sold to help fund the changeover and the new pool.

By filling in the pool, there would be space for a play area for indoor sports such as five-a-side football.

This would make another place for the people of Thanet to go to.

Ramsgate Football Club already does a lot for local children, so they deserve better facilities – there is no need to knock them down.

I just love this island football rivalry

It really is a delight to see both Margate and Ramsgate Football Clubs doing so well.

I'm fascinated to watch every twist and turn as these two clubs – so rich in tradition – battle for supremacy in the Ryman Premier League.

I admit I'm a Rams man through and through, and I've little doubt that my club will finish in a higher position than our Thanet rivals, but it's great that we'll be treated to a couple of derby games this season.

Lee's having the last laugh

Ricky Gervais is a huge fan, but his mum prefers Tom O'Connor – so just how funny is Stewart Lee?

ANYONE who has ever enjoyed cutting-edge comedy will be familiar with Stewart Lee's work, even if they don't recognise his face.

His many writing credits include Radio 4's On The Hour, which later became the groundbreaking TV series The Day Today and launched the careers of, among others, Steve Coogan.

He acted as script editor for Harry Hill's first television programme, wrote episodes for Al Murray the Pub Landlord and this year co-scripted a critically acclaimed play with Johnny Vegas.

With a new stand-up tour called 41st Best Stand-Up Ever! – a homage to his ranking in a Channel 4 poll – audiences might be expecting a mediocre talent.

One of the poster quotes describes him as “the worst stand-up I have ever seen”, but industry guru Ricky Gervais claims Lee is “the funniest, most cliché-free comedian on the circuit”.

The unusual choice of tour name has proved a useful theme for the show, as Lee discusses our roles in life and how we are viewed by our families.

“My mother thinks I’m wasting my life in comedy,” he revealed. “Her favourite comedian is Tom O’Connor and she keeps telling me one of his ‘proper’ jokes about a sardine. I got half an hour’s worth of material out of that joke.”

In the mid-90s, Lee and comedy partner Richard Herring enjoyed a spell as student heroes with BBC2 series Fist of Fun and This Morning With Richard Not Judy. Now 39, Lee is slightly bemused by the apparent nostalgia for their surreal old shows.

“When we started out as a double act, the viewing figures weren’t great and nobody came to our live shows,” he said. “So it was strange to realise that people viewed us in that fond way. Now people who liked us back then bring their kids to my show. But the growth of the internet means people are discovering them again and talking about new comedies.”

Lee’s first brush with major mainstream success was to become one of the most painful episodes in his career, when he was asked to direct and contribute to the hugely controversial stage show Jerry Springer: The Opera in 2001.

When it ran at London’s National Theatre for four months in 2003, Lee described that period as “the highlight of my life”.

But after a four-year run in theatres and a good deal of critical acclaim, the opera attracted the attention of Christian Right groups and the British National Party. The massive protests and media debate that followed effectively derailed the production, leaving Lee disillusioned with mainstream theatre.

Also a novelist and a rock music critic for the Sunday Times, Lee is dedicated to providing alternative entertainment and escaping “the squares”. If anything good came out of his Jerry Springer experience, he claimed, it was the chance to kill off the show while it was still worth watching.

He said: “Most things do become worse with popularity. When I was a kid, indie music and alternative comedy was just for the weirdos, but now you get football fans going to comedy gigs and listening to Oasis.

“Now I think what’s left for all the misfits? I left my last management company because they were trying to get me a late-night ITV slot, as if that was the logical end point for my career. But I didn’t want that.

“I would like more money, though, so that’s why I’m writing the next series of My Family. That’s a joke, by the way.”

• Stewart Lee is appearing at the Gulbenkian Theatre, Canterbury, at 7.45pm on Friday, October 5. Tickets cost £14/£12. To book, you can phone 01227 769075, or visit www.gulbenkiantheatre.co.uk.

THE RIPPER FILES!

Saturday, September 29
Memorial Theatre, Broadstairs

A SPINE-TINGLING new whodunnit comes to Broadstairs this weekend courtesy of Rumpus Theatre Company.

Based on the world's most famous murder mystery, The Ripper Files! follows the hunt for the notorious butcher of Whitechapel.

You can join Inspector Lestrade as he sifts through the evidence – will he uncover the one fact that only Jack the Ripper himself could possibly know?

The play is the first production to be hosted by the Sarah Thorne Theatre Club, which aims to bring professional drama to east Kent without conflicting with the programmes offered by other theatres. The club will be run initially by volunteers, who are already planning to welcome back Michael Friend Productions and Chalkfoot.

Tickets for The Ripper Files! cost £8 for club members and £12 for non-members, who must buy their tickets at least 24 hours before the performance at 7.30pm. To book, phone the box office on 0845 2626 263.

You can find out more about the Sarah Thorne Theatre Club at www.sarahthorne-theatreclub.co.uk.

BUDDY HOLLY - A LEGEND REBORN

Saturday, October 13
Winter Gardens, Margate

YOU can witness a legend being reborn when Buddy Holly (almost!) makes an appearance in Margate.

The new concert features Marc Robinson, a Stars In Their Eyes winner and star of the West End musical, Buddy – the Buddy Holly Story. In the famous heavy-rimmed glasses he belts out hits in an uncanny impersonation of the singer/songwriter.

He will be joined on stage by tribute acts to the king of rock and roll, Elvis Presley, and the Everly Brothers.

Backed by a band reminiscent of The Crickets in their heyday, the show promises to be a spectacular evening and an authentic slice of rock'n'roll nostalgia.

Buddy Holly – A Legend Reborn will start at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £17.50.

To book, phone 01843 296111/292795. For more information, visit www.margatewintergardens.co.uk.

ON GENERAL RELEASE

A MIGHTY HEART (15)

GEORGE BUSH'S war on terror will ultimately be won or lost in the media. In their pursuit of these stories, journalists risk their lives to expose the shocking truth about the conflict. In 2002, the kidnapping and subsequent beheading of Wall Street Journal reporter Daniel Pearl in Pakistan shocked the world. This film is a harrowing account taken from his wife Mariane's memoirs. Released last Friday.

MICHAEL CLAYTON (15)

MICHAEL CLAYTON (George Clooney) is an in-house 'fixer' at one of the largest corporate law firms in New York. Clayton, a former prosecutor from a family of cops, takes care of the firm's dirtiest work. He cleans up clients' messes, handling anything from hit-and-runs to shoplifting wives and bent politicians. Released Friday, September 28.

EVENING (12A)

SOME of the finest actresses working today join forces for Lajos Koltai's saccharine drama, based on the popular novel by Susan Minot. In the opening scenes, Vanessa Redgrave shares the screen with her real-life daughter Natasha Richardson and the luminous Toni Collette and Eileen Atkins. Released last Friday.

Journey into the unknown

■ BY ROBIN WALKER

KURT RUSSELL has been working as an actor in Hollywood since he was a child in the 60s, but he's about as different as can be from the typical Tinseltown thespian.

For one, he is a card-carrying member of the National Rifle Association and an admitted Republican, something a lot of similar-minded stars have chosen to keep under wraps in the liberal world of showbiz.

"There were instances where people would call me up and say 'This director was afraid of working with you because of your politics,'" said the 56-year-old, who dubs himself a libertarian.

"That started to change about 10 years ago," he continued. "Writers stopped trying to turn me into a wooden Republican along the lines they were doing to Charlton Heston. Now I can go to a party and not feel so outcast."

He is also unafraid to admit that acting is one of the easier professions and something that has got him into trouble with those who prefer to play the 'artiste'.

"To go on about acting as art is ridiculous," he said. "You don't have to be gifted just to hit a mark and say a line. As far as I'm concerned, that's 90 per cent of the job. Anyone who finds acting difficult just shouldn't be doing it."

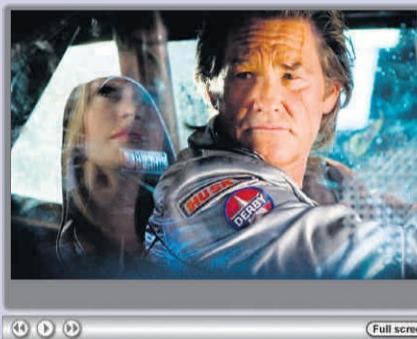

Indeed, the reluctant professional does make his latest role look easy, playing a psychotic driver called Stuntman Mike in Quentin Tarantino's new film, Death Proof.

A heartless but charismatic villain, Mike cajoles young women into his specially adapted car for a journey that normally ends in tragedy.

"I just took one word and ran with it – coward," said Russell of his approach to the character. "This is a guy who kills women. I think it's the core of all these psycho-killer characters, especially this one."

The film, a blend of slasher flick and car chase action, sees Mike getting more and more deranged.

"He's not one character all the way through. He's got issues with pain," said Russell.

"I said to Quentin 'Why don't we do something different here at the end? Why don't we really go with this word 'coward'? So we went all the way down that road,'" he said.

It's certainly a return to the scarier side of Russell's portfolio, the veteran screen star having cornered the market in horror as a younger man in films including The Thing and Escape From New York.

And in a way, Death Proof is a homage to the films of Russell's past. It was originally conceived as a double feature from Tarantino and director Robert Rodriguez, called Grindhouse, and both are apparently fans. "To be part of, in a weird way, the process of their love affair with movies was a special feeling," said Russell.

Most important to the actor was creating a really memorable screen baddie. "I've never actually seen one of these characters at the end of a movie completely fall apart. It's like when you hammer your finger – you have an idea what it will feel like, but when you actually do it it's way worse than you thought!" he said.

Renowned for his on-screen stunts, Russell shows no signs of wanting to scale down the action, and does a lot of the incredible driving in the movie himself.

"The problem is you're in the wrong lane doing 100mph," said Russell.

"You have to trust that a coyote won't run into the road or another car slip by one of the roads they've told you are shut off. To put that out of your head and play the character while you're doing it, that's what you get paid to do."

• Death Proof, directed by Quentin Tarantino, was released last Friday.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

AQUARIUS

(Jan 21 - Feb 19)

EXPANDING your horizons will be easier than usual over the next four weeks. Don't be surprised if you make friends with somebody influential as a result of your activities. On a personal note an admirer could become relentless in their pursuit of you. Signing a contract is favoured this week, as is sealing a deal with a neighbour or relative.

TAURUS

(Apr 21 - May 21)

THERE'S never been a better time to launch a job search or exercise programme. If you're happy with your current employer, you may want to negotiate a better package or added perks. Dealings with a bureaucratic institution could finally be wrapped up, giving you the green light to get your plans up and running.

LEO

(July 24 - Aug 23)

THE next four weeks promise to be a busy time. It's vital you keep on top of phone calls, emails, and text messages or an important deal could fall through the cracks. If you've already got a partner, arrange a fun mini break for you both. Special recognition could be given to you soon, opening the door to a whole new set of career options.

SCORPIO

(Oct 24 - Nov 22)

YOU'LL be keeping a low profile between now and late October. It's easy to negotiate a great financial deal from behind the scenes. If you've been interviewing for jobs, you could get a solid offer by the end of the week. Having this position makes it easier to assert your ideas with confidence. Pursue a course of study between now and the end of the year.

PISCES

(Feb 20 - Mar 20)

GETTING closer to the one you love may be your first order of business, but don't let personal issues stop you attending to financial matters. You may also want to nudge your older relatives into making similar arrangements. Wrap up any ongoing salary negotiations if you can this week for your chances of earning more money will be strong.

GEMINI

(May 22 - Jun 22)

THIS week begins the most romantic phase of the year for you. If you're single, be sure to hit as many social gatherings as possible. If you already have a partner, arrange a trip for you and your amour. Your connection with a large organisation could come to an end allowing you to shift your focus to increasing your income between now and December.

VIRGO

(Aug 24 - Sep 23)

THIS week brings an opportunity to make money by doing something you love. Don't be afraid to send your CV to an employer that has always interested you. If you're happy with your current post, ask the boss if you can work from home. A decision regarding an insurance payment, tax refund, or inheritance could be made in your favour.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov 23 - Dec 21)

YOUR social life sparkles over the next four weeks. This is a wonderful time to make new business and romantic contacts. Your powerful personality makes a good impression on a group of intellectuals. A love affair could fill you with anticipation for a happy future. Don't be surprised if you find yourself spending quiet evenings with your beloved.

ARIES

(Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU'RE very decisive when it comes to romance and now you're sure you want to move forward with a blossoming affair. This talk could prompt you to embark on an exciting journey. Finishing a personal project gives you a terrific burst of energy. Household matters will take up the lion's share of your attention from now until the end of the year.

CANCER

(Jun 23 - Jul 23)

THE month ahead gives you a chance to attend to domestic matters. A pressing career matter is concluded helping you make changes to your workplace with a well-worded proposal. Studies related to religion or culture could take on an increased importance between now and October. Be aggressive about your desires until to the end of the year.

LIBRA

(Sep 24 - Oct 23)

YOU'LL be coming into your own this week. Don't let anybody dictate the terms of a deal to you. By communicating your needs with power and passion, you'll get everything you want. A close relationship could undergo a profound change as a result of this sting. Your partner is really turned on by the new you.

CAPRICORN

(Dec 22 - Jan 20)

YOU can make impressive progress up the career ladder in the coming months. Don't be afraid to take the reins of power if your boss has to step down for a while. If someone offers you a tough job, accept the challenge willingly. This week is ideal for closing on a house or resolving a family conflict. Give a loved one your unconditional support.

When this Belle rings Billie comes a calling

■ BY ANDY WELCH

WHEN the name Billie Piper comes up in conversation, one of two images tend to spring to mind for most people.

Either as a teen popstar or as Rose Tyler in the resurrected and hugely successful Doctor Who.

From this week she will add a third public face, and this one is very grown up.

She appears in Secret Diary Of A Call-Girl, in which she plays prostitute Belle de Jour – a true story adapted for the new ITV2 series.

'Belle' – her real identity has never been revealed – worked as a high-class escort in London for years, before detailing her exploits in a famous online blog and later in two books, The Intimate Adventures Of A London Call-Girl and The Further Adventures Of A London Call-Girl.

"It's intimate," said Billie of the eight-part series. "Really intimate. I'm really scared, if I'm honest. Well, just... I'm quite nervous, you know, because of the nature of the show."

"I hope people think it's been handled well and that at times it makes people laugh and that people can get over the initial shock factor of the piece."

It may indeed come as a shock to some viewers to see Billie – who celebrated her 25th birthday this month – writhing around in her underwear, and of course, in some scenes, doing what prostitutes do – having sex. But the young actress is more than aware of what she's letting herself in for.

Billie said: "I considered this job more than I considered anything before. It's such a different world to what I know. Obviously it's quite full on and it's relentless. It's not just one

ALL CHANGE: From travelling the galaxy with Dr Who, Billie Piper plays a high-class prostitute in her latest role sex scene here and there, it's... endless!"

Many people would happily admit that acting out such scenes in front of a room full of camera crew would make us blush, but Billie maintains she didn't get embarrassed.

"You talk endlessly about it and you choreograph it like a contemporary dance," she said.

As viewers will soon find out, Billie spends a lot of time in her skimpies, but she looks good, make no mistake. So is her super-toned body the result of hours and hours in the gym?

"No, not the gym. I don't like the gym at all, makes me want to kill myself. But I have been running outside quite a bit, and I'd just finished a play," she said.

Despite winning a Guardian newspaper award for Blog of the Year and publishing two books, there is still some doubt by sceptics as to whether Belle was a real person.

Billie, however, insists that she met the real Belle, who helped her to prepare for the role.

"She's sweet and she's interesting. She's very clever as well," Billie says.

As well as being impressed by the former call-girl – who has apparently now retired – Billie had a few questions of her own for Belle.

"I wanted to know when she was with a bloke, what their faces were like," she says.

Pardon?

"I wanted to know if they were bolshy and turned into egomaniacs or power-freaks," she added.

"Belle told me that it was quite the opposite. Men get really scared and vulnerable and nervous, worrying about if they are going to be exposed to the point where they can't perform. I didn't think it would be like that, so it was quite fascinating really."

now you see it... now you don't

The latest plasma screens have revolutionised television viewing, but the sheer size of these enormous units means they tend to dominate their environment.

The answer to the problem comes in the form of magnificent, elevating cabinets which will definitely enhance rather than detract from your living space.

The cabinets are available in traditional mahogany and yew as well as the latest contemporary natural oak. Your DVD player and VCR are stowed beneath the television and there is ample storage for DVDs and cassettes – and all hidden away behind the elegant veneered doors.

The television itself is raised up by an ingenious, virtually silent mechanism operated by remote control.

Contact us for further information or visit our showroom, open Monday to Saturday from 9am – 5pm, to see them in action.

MISSING FRIENDS: A non-profit-making, three-minute music video called Missing Friends/Amigos Perdidos, made by children for children. Explanation: "We know it won't win an Oscar, but just the same we think it is beautiful because it's a film of our children capturing the innocence and joy of their childhood. What could be more precious? Sadly, thousands of children just like them disappear each and every year, and the names of Ben Needham, Yeremi Vargas and Madeleine McCann have been added to that growing list."

"None of us can afford to be indifferent. Evil flourishes when good people choose to do nothing. The reality is we are part of a community that is local, national and worldwide, especially where this cause is concerned."

"We can all be more proactive and a little less reactive. Together, we can make a difference, but only if we try. This is the least we owe Ben, Yeremi and Madeleine, and every other missing child and tormented family that has suffered through this never-ending tragedy. Let's all protect the innocent."

Let the Oriana take the strain

■ BY JEREMY GATES

WHEN Atlantic breezes nudged up to Force Seven, and Oriana's captain gently applied his accelerator, the P&O cruise ship devised such a beguiling roll that the chairs in the library lounge became positively hypnotic.

Perhaps Nelson's men felt the same in their hammocks. Ongoing research among my fellow passengers found hardly any of us could hold a book or magazine for more than 10 minutes before zizzing gently off to the Land of Nod.

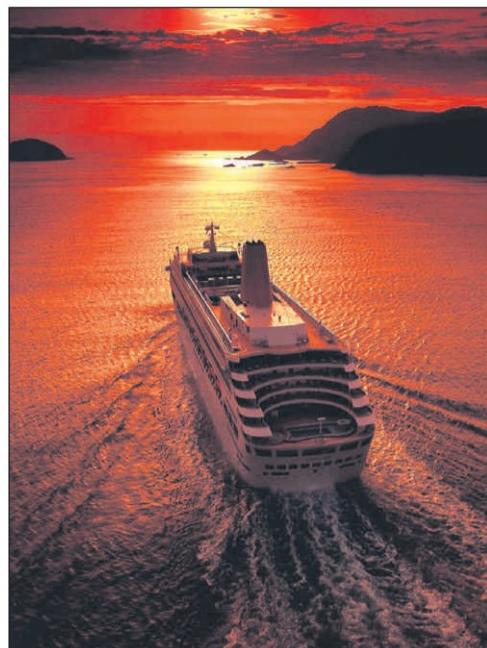

The 70,000-tonne Oriana took over from Canberra as the new mainstay of P&O's fleet back in 1995, when few realised a new boom in cruising lay just around the corner.

Since then the new generation of superliners has taken over, some twice Oriana's size and even bigger. Plenty have become giant floating hotels or shopping malls.

After a major upgrade last autumn, Oriana, to her great credit, continues to set her own style: she's Middle England at sea, when so many other ships adopt the brasher approach of the US/Caribbean cruise market.

Although Oriana carried a full complement of 1,800 passengers on our trip, we ordered breakfast in our room – at no extra charge – to watch the sun coming up over the Atlantic breakers entirely alone.

There are still only a handful of shops on board, the cricket bats signed by Don Bradman and Colin Cowdrey are still proudly on show in the Lord's Tavern bar, and a pre-breakfast stroll on the promenade deck brings cheerful smiles of greeting from early retirees sporting the latest leisure gear.

In line with the latest fashion, of course, Oriana will serve up meals around the clock in various bars on the lido deck. But why forgo the pleasant evening ritual of dressing to a modestly respectable level for either first or second sitting of dinner in the formal restaurants?

We thought the quality of the food this time was even better than on our first visit.

Before each stop, there's a duty-free sale of 'take ashore' items – from spirits to cigarettes – to boost takings.

With so many things to do on board, ports of call passed in something of a blur – and few passengers seemed bothered about where they went anyway.

The city of Corunna is a nicer corner of northern Spain than it looks at first sight. Santa Cruz, on the northern shore of Tenerife, is being impressively revamped to give this beleaguered island a new, upmarket, image.

Lanzarote I can't recall with pleasure, because I ended up amid the boozy bars of Puerto del Carmen, but Madeira is the perfect pitstop on any voyage. That first glimpse of Funchal climbing endlessly up a steep hillside as you pull back the curtains can't fail to take the breath away.

When we climbed the elegant flower gardens of Funchal to look down on the Oriana, in harbour, bedecked in flags from stem to stern, I realised how misguided is the 'expert' who wrote that the QE2 is the last ship to actually look like a cruise ship.

Oriana is a stunner, too. If you can get on board for £100 per person per day, with all meals and entertainment provided and occasional ice creams thrown in for free, the opportunity should not be missed.

PROPERTY NEWS

Belmonte's expansion continues in Westgate

LETTING agent Belmonte has opened a new office, covering Westgate – where it is based – Birchington, Acol and St Nicholas.

The company, which was established in 1994, prides itself on focusing on the needs of both landlords and tenants.

Directors Nigel Pope and Julian Sparkes are specialists in the fields of lettings and property management.

A spokesman said: "Our directors firmly believe that their most valuable asset is their team.

"Belmonte's Broadstairs office has a dedicated team of 11 letting specialists, many of whom have been with the company for several years and are experienced in their different fields with excellent local knowledge.

"In 2006, our Ramsgate office opened in a prime location within the town centre with a team of five letting specialists who have ensured the office has gone from strength to strength."

The newly-appointed branch manager for the Westgate office is Vicky Bissell, who has been part of the Broadstairs team for six years. Vicky will be supported by Sheree Hall.

Exchange rate matters when buying overseas

PROPERTY investors looking to the overseas market could stand to lose more than £3,500, according to experts at the Property Investor Show.

At a time when the pound is strong against some of the world's leading currencies, second homebuyers and property investors should be looking to cash in on exchange rates when transferring money for the property purchase.

Instead, the investor's group claims that many are losing money on this important transaction simply by using a high street bank rather than a foreign exchange specialist which offers a more competitive rate.

Mark O'Sullivan, head of trading at Currencies Direct, said: "Aside from a UK home, buying a property abroad is likely to be the most expensive purchase you will make and it is crucial to get the best deal on the exchange rate to ensure you don't lose out when transferring money overseas.

"Using a specialist rather than a bank could save thousands of pounds which can be spent on other initial costs. This figure doesn't even take into account the transfer fees that many banks charge, which would inflate the amount further."

RISE AND FALL: Although August figures show an increase in sales and buyers, there are still concerns over the effect HIPs and interest rates will have on the housing market

Housing market is still clouded by uncertainty

AFTER a slowdown in July, the house market is once again picking up pace as estate agents report a rise in sales and more buyers looking to snap up a property.

The latest information from the National Association of Estate Agents (NAEA) revealed the upturn, with the number of registered buyers, properties on estate agents' books and sales per agent all rising during August.

However, with uncertainty clouding the economic climate, the majority of these figures were still down on the same time last year.

According to the NAEA, the number of people looking to purchase a home increased slightly in August, with agents reporting a rise of 3.8 per cent courtesy of an average of 326 buyers registered on their books in comparison with the 314 recorded in July.

■ BY ED HILL

While an increase in house-hunters is typical for the time of year, this is the lowest reported August rise since 2003, as increasing interest rates and reduced house price inflation cause caution among consumers.

The number of houses for sale increased in August as NAEA members reported an average of 81 properties for sale during the month compared with the 45 properties reported the previous month. The number of sales reported increased in August, with an average of 12 houses sold per agent compared with the 10 properties sold per agent in July.

The number this time last year was 15.

The NAEA blames recent economic movements and introduction of the still contentious HIPs legislation for the decrease.

Meanwhile, first-time buyers took a smaller share of the market this summer as their percentage share was reported at 9.7 per cent, compared with 13.4 per cent in August 2006.

This continuing waning in the market can be attributed partly to the turbulent interest rate rises that have led to the current insecurity for this sector.

What's more, it is taking longer to complete house moves – rising from 17 weeks in 2006 to 18.2 in 2007.

NAEA president Stewart Lilly said: "The latest figures indicate that a period of low house price inflation may well be on its way.

"However, the recent introduction of the second phase of HIPs is likely to cause more disruption and in particular prompt a wait-and-see strategy from individuals who are unsure about the full impact of the legislation."

Have you ever wondered... why most Estate Agents don't advertise their fees....?

At Oakwood homes we believe in transparency – our fees are just 1.49% + VAT INCLUDING your HIP
So, if an estate agent won't tell you their fees BEFORE they come to value, then they've probably got something to hide....?!

All the comforts of home, none of the worries

After working hard all your life, don't you think you deserve a little pampering? Wouldn't it be nice to enjoy the garden without having to lift a finger, and who wants to worry about all those little jobs that need doing around your home?

McCarthy & Stone may have the solution with their brand new purpose-built retirement development in Margate.

Joyce and her husband Frank had been living in a three bedroom detached bungalow before moving to Dickens Court.

Joyce said "Neither Frank nor I like gardening and in the bungalow we had so much stuff that we thought we'd better get rid of it and make a new start while we were still fit and healthy."

"As soon as we heard that McCarthy & Stone were building in Cliftonville, we were down to the sales office like a shot."

Peace of Mind

Freedom from security worries makes for a happier, more carefree retirement.

Shortly after moving in, Frank and Joyce went on a cruise to Norway with the peace of mind knowing that their flat would be safe whilst they were away.

Like all McCarthy & Stone developments, Dickens Court has a TV camera entry system at the main entrance and a house manager to keep an eye on things. Furthermore, each apartment is connected to a 24-hour personal emergency system.

Making new Friends

As Dickens Court has filled up with new people, Frank and Joyce have been enjoying the company of their fellow residents.

Frank said "It's great fun now that the social side of things has got going. We're both on the social committee so we find we don't have much time to laze about. Where we were living before we didn't really get to know our neighbours. In fact, we've made more friends since we've been here than we did in the six years we spent in the bungalow."

Dickens Court has been specially designed for people aged 60 and over who enjoy an independent lifestyle.

Other facilities at Dickens Court include a lift to all floors, a laundry room and a guest suite for visiting family and friends.

Dickens Court, Margate.

Apartments at Dickens Court are priced from £129,950.

Show Complex open daily from 10.30am to 5.00pm.

Ramsgate

£235,000

Located in the ever popular Dumpton Park Drive area is this truly luxurious two bedroom apartment. The property is situated on the first floor giving stunning distant sea views from the front. The apartment offers a hassle free no chain situation therefore all viewings are recommended at your earliest convenience. Fitments included in the kitchen and bathrooms are all of a reputable make such as 'Neff' and 'Aqualisa'. As well as the bathroom there is also an en-suite. Secure parking is located on the lower ground floor for one car.

Large detached residence, having been extended and offering a self contained 2 storey flat. The property as a whole offers 5 bedrooms, 3 reception rooms, 2 kitchens, double garage with ample parking to front, car port. Well maintained rear garden.

Ramsgate

£179,950

It is an attractive 1930's semi-detached bungalow located in a popular Avenue of Ramsgate. The property presents a comfortable, neat, tidy, light and airy feel with recent additions such as white UPVC fascias and guttering, double glazed windows and doors and a 'Vaillant' combination boiler. Other features include halogen lights to most ceilings which are operated by dimmer switches and a white suite in the bathroom and w.c. The property is an essential view.

Broadstairs

£190,000

This property is well maintained, light and airy with original features including the decorative wooden windows and fitments, picture rails and feature fire places. The property offers good space in the living area by the way of a separate dining room. All the rooms are simply decorated with modern colours and floor coverings. Further benefits include a decorative front courtyard garden and a well thought out sunny rear aspect garden with two seating areas.

Cliftonville

£249,950

A substantial three bedroom semi-detached property. This home has plenty to offer for the family with a good size landscaped garden and plenty of off street parking leading to a single garage. The property has been updated including a re-wire, a re-fitted kitchen as well as general decorative improvements such as restoring and maintaining the impressive wood paneling that you can find upon entering the main entrance hall as well as throughout the 1st floor landing area. No onward chain.

MINNIS BAY

£249,995

Templar mews is a stunning Duplex apartment offering spacious and versatile accommodation throughout. The layout itself can suit a number of potential buyers particularly those of you looking for a second home or a stylish everyday apartment. The property itself is fully double glazed with the added benefit of a combination boiler. Further more, there is also a good size single garage which is easily accessible from the rear of the property. The property has a lease with a share of the freehold.

MOTORS NEWS

Renault customer to hit slopes after win

LUCKY prize-winner Sarah Thorne grabbed skis for her visit to Motorline Renault in Ashford.

Although there was a distinct lack of snow at the Hilton Road dealership, she was gearing up for a winter sports holiday courtesy of the motor group.

She won £350 of holiday vouchers in a summer draw held across Motorline's four Renault service centres: Maidstone, Canterbury, Ashford and Dover.

As a keen skier there was no doubt about how Sarah, from Tenterden, would use her windfall: "I'm delighted. I haven't won anything like this before. I'm planning to use the vouchers towards a skiing holiday next year."

Why green is being highlighted in white

WHITE is the new green, judging by the many white-painted eco-friendly concept cars now produced as CO₂ emissions become as crucial as fuel consumption.

Volvo's C30 special (pictured) highlights the trend well, but Fiat's small car line-up makes it favourite to lead the environmental battle.

Group chief Luca di Meo said: "We aim to be the manufacturer with the lowest CO₂ emissions in Europe – and want to do this the Fiat way, providing customers with everyday solutions to reduce the environmental impact of personal transportation."

Micra '2008' due for launch next month

NISSAN has revamped its distinctive Micra for 2008 models, launched in October.

Trim levels and colour specs have also been revised to harmonise with the bigger Note hatchback/MPV and hugely successful Qashqai.

Features such as an audible speed warning system and Bluetooth phone link are now standard on certain versions and all Micras will now have a jack socket so that MP3 players can be played through the car's sound system.

Prices are also largely unchanged, starting from £7,495.

IMPROVED LOOK: New Toyota Prius is easier on the eye compared with its 'wheelie-bin' predecessor, but we're still waiting for an environmentally-friendly car that thrills

Green gamble looks a good bet for Toyota

ALREADY the world's most profitable car-maker, and likely to overtake General Motors soon as the most productive, it also makes the world's most famous environmentally-friendly car – the Toyota Prius.

This petrol-electric hybrid asks oil addicts to make few sacrifices for rehab; there are no muesli-pattern seats or recycled rubber fixtures and fittings.

It even has air-con and a fairly racy shape – a sharp contrast with the original car's designer wheelie bin looks.

The styling may be irrelevant to Prius fans though, because it is the 1.5-litre petrol engine and 1.2-litre electric low emission and consumption power partnership that they like.

Together, they push out 143bhp – enough for a reasonable 0-62mph of around 11 seconds.

Not that anyone puts that to the test, because you soon find yourself playing a game with the throttle and the 'powertrain' graphics on the dashboard, so the electric motor whirrs happily without waking the nasty, dirty petrol engine.

So, within an hour you have been through rehab and instead of risking road rage you are wafting around like a highway hippie delivering the milk.

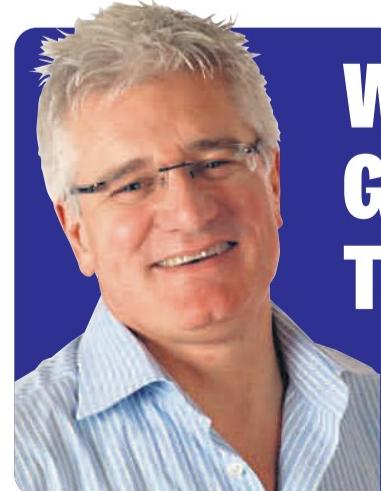

The brakes are clever too, because they recover what would be lost energy on a normal car and channel it back into the car's battery – good for stop-start town traffic.

But all this technology costs. The cheapest Prius is nearly £18,000 – Toyota's equivalent conventional family hatchback, the Auris, starts at around £12,000 – and Toyota is rumoured to be subsidising every Prius sold.

Greens and gadget fans apart, buyers may also be put off by the relatively untried technology – despite an impressive eight-year/100,000-mile warranty on the hybrid system itself.

The car is also 'extremely' automatic – you simply select forward or reverse and go from A to B – which makes it a bit dull to drive even though the car handles and rides well.

On the other hand, it is a practical car to live with; the hybrid powertrain and batteries do not impinge on the car's ability to function as a roomy family hatchback.

USED CAR ROUND-UP:

OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

FORD FOCUS

BRITAIN'S favourite car. Or is it? Some say it's number one through Ford's formidable market share. Fair point, but the Focus is also great to drive, practical, well-made and blessed with good engines. For second-hand buyers there is a fantastic choice of power – including the rapid ST – trim levels and body styles: a smart saloon and estate plus a coupé convertible. The car's popularity and ordinary looks are a weakness though and reason enough for some buyers to look elsewhere.

BEST-SELLING FAMILY HATCHBACKS

LOOKING for a car that does it all? Start shopping for a family hatchback; it seats five, can be crammed like a small van and represents a good balance of space, flexibility and economy... providing you don't go for the 'hot hatch' version. Family hatches dominate the UK top 10 – all three of our recommendations are regulars – and the end product needs to be good to compete at all against talented opposition. Market clout helps, of course, but this trio deserves to be there on merit too – check out the profiles below.

VAUXHALL ASTRA

SUFFERS like the Focus from being a common sight, thanks to its lofty new car top 10 sales position. But nobody could accuse the Astra of being dreary looking; Renault Megane aside, it is the most sharply styled family hatchback on sale. Vauxhall has also differentiated between the three-door model, dubbed the Sport Hatch, and the five-door workhorse. There is a longer wheelbase estate too. Engine options, including impressive Fiat-derived diesels, are among the best around.

VW GOLF

IT costs extra to get into a Golf, signalling the power of a more premium bonnet badge. Highly-regarded diesels also keep used prices up, while the GTI hot hatch lends glamour to the whole range. Interior quality and ambience is top notch too and the driving experience is possibly best in class. That said, the Golf suffers from fairly dull styling and some buyers might be tempted by sexier and cheaper used rivals such as the Citroën C4 and Megane.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES AT DUNGENESS 'A'

A number of exciting opportunities have arisen at Dungeness 'A' Site since the Site completed 40 years of safe electricity generation and a successful shutdown at the end of December 2006. The Site now faces its biggest challenge as it enters into the Decommissioning phase to ensure a safe and secure future. This new phase of activity is creating opportunities for dedicated professionals with a passion for the environment to support our operations and project delivery.

Site Director's PA £21-28k

Vacancy No: DA/4442/07

Key duties include the provision of a confidential secretarial and administrative function for the Site Director, assisting with confidential mail, arranging meetings, accommodation and travel, minute taking, organising itineraries for visitors and helping to co-ordinate resources. SOUTH EAST COAST AMBULANCE SERVICE NHS TRUST

Ambulance Care Assistant

Band 3 £14,037 - £16,799 p.a.

37.5 hours per week

(8 or 10 hour shifts. Some weekend and Bank Holiday work will be required)

Based: Various Ambulance Stations in Kent or Sussex and limited vacancies in Surrey

South East Coast Ambulance Service is an innovative and forward-looking Trust, which actively promotes the ambulance service as an integral part of the pre-hospital care pathway.

Ambulance Care Assistants (ACA's) are responsible for the medical welfare of their patients, providing support and assistance to those in need and ensuring that all patients are transported safely and in comfort both throughout the journey and during transfer to and from the ambulance.

You will spend much of your time out on the road, and duties may involve heavy lifting, bending and carrying when transferring patients, and successful candidates will have to undertake considerable training in basic life support skills, oxygen therapy, automated defibrillators, manual handling, first aid and driving skills.

We are looking to increase our dedicated team of professionals to ensure that the service runs smoothly and patients receive the best possible level of care.

As a minimum,

- Stable employment and attendance record
- English and Maths GCSE's at Grade C or above (or equivalent)
- Good general eyesight to (PCV) licence standards
- Full, current Driving Licence, held for at least 1 year, with no more than 3 penalty points.
- If you acquired your licence after January 1997 you must be willing to obtain Part C1 on your licence prior to employment.
- Capable of passing our pre-entry written tests and driving assessment
- Physically fit and able to pass an Occupational Specific Fitness Test and Occupational Medical to PCV standards

You must be able to demonstrate good communication and team working skills and possess a genuine desire to serve the community through either your working, or spare time activities.

Our remuneration package includes a generous annual leave entitlement and membership of the NHS Occupational Pension Scheme. The Trust also provides Listeners Network, Counselling and Occupational Health Services as an on going commitment to the well being and welfare of our staff.

For a recruitment pack please contact our 24-hour recruitment line on 01737 363529 or email: recruitment.secamb@nhs.uk

Closing date: Friday, 5th October 2007.

The Trust is committed to being recognised as a model employer in respect of equalities and diversity and to our workforce at all levels reflecting the communities we serve. Central to this aim is a desire to identify and deal with any barriers that may exist in the way staff are attracted, recruited, retained, motivated and developed. We guarantee interview to candidates with disability who meet the minimum criteria specified.

South Coast Ambulance Service NHS Trust

(8 or 10 hour shifts. Some weekend and Bank Holiday work will be required)

Based: Various Ambulance Stations in Kent or Sussex and limited vacancies in Surrey. South East Coast Ambulance Service is an innovative and forward looking Trust, which actively promotes the ambulance service as an integral part of the pre-hospital care pathway.

Ambulance Care Assistants (ACAs) are responsible for the medical welfare of their patients, providing support and assistance to those in need and ensuring that all patients are transported safely and in comfort both throughout the journey and during transfer to and from the ambulance. You will spend much of your time out on the road, and duties may involve heavy lifting, bending and carrying when transferring patients, and successful candidates will have to undertake considerable training in basic life support skills, oxygen therapy, automated defibrillators, manual handling, first aid and driving skills. We are looking to increase our dedicated team of professionals to ensure that the service runs smoothly and patients receive the best possible level of care.

As a minimum, • Stable employment and attendance record • English and Maths GCSE's at Grade C or above (or equivalent), • Good general eyesight to (PCV) licence standards • Full current Driving Licence, held for at least 1 year, with no more than 3 penalty points. • If you acquired your licence after January 1997 you must be willing to obtain Part C1 on your licence prior to employment.

• Capable of passing our pre-entry written tests and driving assessment • Physically fit and able to pass an Occupational Specific Fitness Test and Occupational Medical to PCV standards.

You must be able to demonstrate good communication and team working skills and possess a genuine desire to serve the community through either your working, or spare time activities. Our remuneration package includes a generous annual leave entitlement and membership of the NHS Occupational Pension Scheme. The Trust also provides Listener Network, Counselling and Occupational Health Services as an ongoing commitment to the well-being and welfare of our staff. The Trust is committed to being recognised as a model employer in respect of equalities and diversity and to our workforce at all levels reflecting the communities we serve. Central to this aim is a desire to identify and deal with any barriers that may exist in the way staff are attracted, recruited, retained, motivated and developed. We guarantee interview to candidates with disability who meet the minimum criteria specified. An Equal Opportunities Employer.

'Outdated family doc' a hazard to firms' health

EMPLOYEES and businesses are being unnecessarily burdened by the 'outdated family doctor service', the CBI claims.

Malcolm Hyde, CBI South East regional director, said: "Official figures show 10 million adults in England alone cannot book an appointment with a GP more than 48 hours in advance. It's time there was real and fundamental reform, with the needs of the patient coming first."

"A healthy workforce is as important to employers as a workforce with the skills needed to compete. An employee who isn't there because they have to wait around in a GP's surgery is a lost order or an unanswered phone call."

Government must fight EU's agency directive

FLEXIBLE working for thousands of people across the county could be in jeopardy, despite it being increasingly offered by businesses – according to the latest research from the Confederation of British Industry.

The CBI has warned the Government it must stand firm against renewed EU and union pressure to resurrect the draft Agency Workers Directive, which puts agency workers on an equal footing with permanent staff after just six weeks.

The survey, by the CBI, the UK's biggest employers' organisation and the recruitment specialist Pertemps, suggests up to 250,000 placements across the country would be jeopardised if the directive were to be adopted.

Diva-Biz site is offering something for the lady

A NEW video-based website designed for the busy female executive has been launched.

The Diva-Biz site offers a web-based mentoring and leadership forum for professional women, where leading figures talk candidly about their own experiences.

Launch interviews include: Rachel Bridge, of the Sunday Times; Sarah Deaves, CEO at Coutts Bank; and Danielle Lux, managing director of Celador Productions.

The site has been set up by Fiona Price, who set up the first company in the UK giving financial advice to women.

THINKING PROCESS: With more and more new employment regulations being put on small businesses, it is good practice to take early action to ensure there is little disruption

New rules will affect every business leader

EMPLOYERS need to get to grips now with upcoming changes to employment regulations, a business support agency has warned.

As of October 1, there will be an increase in the statutory holiday entitlement to 4.8 weeks (24 days if you work a five-day week) and a rise in the minimum wage.

The adult rate for workers aged 22 and over will increase to £5.52 an hour.

And Business Link says local firms should be sure to have the right processes in place to minimise disruption to their operations.

The quarterly South East Business Monitor – a quarterly survey of 1,800 of the region's small-and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) – found recent changes to regulations such as the smoking ban, paternity and maternity rights and age discrimination are perceived by business owners to have had little impact on their companies.

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

Although almost one third (32 per cent) of Kent companies identify red tape as a constraint on their business, the majority have a good understanding of the latest regulations.

Of the SMEs involved in the survey, introducing a smoke-free workplace (84 per cent), age discrimination (82 per cent) and maternity and paternity rights (72 per cent) legislation said there was no impact on their business.

Business Link's Linda Bennett said: "It seems that people running businesses have a 'can do attitude' and simply get on with the day-to-day running of their companies. Businesses are generally more affected by the fear of red tape than the actual implications of new regulations.

"Understanding new legislation is a vital part of coping with the changes that you may need to make to your business. Getting to grips with regulations can seem daunting at first, but we are able to advise on how to stay within the law. Taking early action can mean there is very little impact on your business.

"It can be difficult to find the time, particularly for small businesses, to keep up with changing legislation and take the necessary action."

Business Link has drawn up a practical guide to explaining the legal responsibilities and how best to prepare.

Allstars hope to shine today

ALLSTARS take on Westbrook Club Red tonight looking to keep the pressure on at the top of Division 2 as the Thanet and District Netball League enters its final stages.

While a win for Allstars would put them in contention for promotion, their opponents need a result to guarantee their safety in the division.

In Division 1 tomorrow night, Safe & Sound play leaders Golden Wonder, who are on course to go through the season with a 100 per cent winning record.

Tomorrow also sees a clash between Pfizer Blue and Fleur de Lis.

Running a big competition

HUNDREDS of children are set to compete in the largest cross-country competition in the South East, which begins next month.

The first meeting of the 2007 Thanet Primary Schools Cross-Country League will be held at Newington Primary School in Ramsgate on Saturday, October 13.

The annual competition is now in its third year. Last year 700 pupils from 26 schools took part, with Upton taking the title and St Nicholas-at-Wade finishing as small schools champions.

The event is organised by Phil Pitcock, of Thanet Roadrunners Athletic Club.

He said: "It's an incredibly popular competition which gives children an opportunity to take part in a different sport."

Race entry is £1 per person, with Stagecoach providing free bus travel to runners and supporters. You can get entry forms and travel permits via www.thanetroadrunners.org.uk, or at schools. Phone 07941 196740 for details.

DIGGING IN: Ramsgate's Lee Minshull scored the winning goal against Wealdstone on Saturday to lift the Thanet side into second place in the Ryman Premier League

Rams fired by penalty verdict to go second

LEE MINSHULL scored the winner as a below-par Ramsgate did just enough to take all three points and go second in the Ryman Premier League.

In a committed game the visitors could not play at their fluid best, but they dug in to grind out their sixth win in seven games.

In a breathless opening period both sides had opportunities to take the lead.

Peter Dean had a great chance for the home side when a through ball looked to put him one-on-one with Paul Wilkerson, but Dan Tanner recovered to shepherd the ball out of danger.

The home side were very physical and the Rams did well to keep their cool until Sam Vallance was flattened by Wealdstone skipper Marcus Gross. The referee failed to punish Gross, much to the fury of the Rams bench.

The visitors took the lead after 32 minutes when the referee spotted a handball in the area. With regular penalty-taker Shaun Welford off the field with a dead leg, Steffan Ball assumed the duties and made no mistake.

Wealdstone continued to battle and Minshull needed to be alert to clear a header off the line.

The Thanet team dominated the opening exchanges after the break. They threatened from a succession of corners early in the half, with both Nick Davis and Minshull coming close to doubling the lead.

Against the run of play the home side levelled on the hour mark. A long throw reached Ryan Ashe, whose shot squirmed away from Wilkerson to give Gross the simplest of tasks to equalise.

The goal spurred Wealdstone on and they began to threaten Wilkerson's goal more regularly. The Rams keeper made a world-class save on 69 minutes when he tipped Ben Alexander's dipping volley over the bar.

It appeared the visitors had lost their chance to win the game when the referee turned down a strong penalty claim with 12 minutes to go. Dean Hill had his legs taken away by Alan Massey, but the official waved away protests.

The sense of injustice fired Ramsgate and within two minutes they were ahead when Minshull nodded in a cross from Vallance.

There was still time for the home side to launch a final salvo on the visitors' goal.

In the fifth minute of injury time Wealdstone screamed for a penalty, but the referee gave a free-kick on the edge of the area.

The ball slammed into the defensive wall and seconds later the final whistle went.

Ramsgate can be pleased to get maximum points from a difficult game and continue their superb early-season form.

Jim Ward's side had the chance to go top last night when they visited league leaders Hendon. See www.yourthanet.co.uk for details.

Ville take a positive draw against Blackheath

CLIFTONVILLE ladies played their first league game since promotion with a good performance to draw 0-0 against one of the division's more established sides.

Ville started positively against Blackheath and had the run of the game for the first 15 minutes, almost taking the lead from a short corner, but Tracey Ballard's shot was well saved.

The visitors found their stride soon afterwards and the game settled into a tight encounter.

Just before the break, Blackheath had a good chance to move ahead. They flooded down the right wing and as Ville goalkeeper Sharon Price rushed out, the attacking forwards managed to slip the ball underneath her.

Fortunately for the home side Julie Cobb was in the right position to clear the ball and save a certain goal – and she was on hand moments later to make another crucial clearance.

Cliftonville came out strongly in the second half, but their positive play created few clear-cut chances and the game ended goalless.

The men's side finished their preparations with an excellent 6-0 friendly win against Herne Bay's second team.

From the start of the game Cliftonville pressed hard and forced mistakes from their opponents.

Ville were very effective on the break, with Mark Tiley scoring three to continue his goalscoring form.

The win means the side will go into Saturday's opening league game with Deal full of confidence.

Captain Tony Burton said: "The squad is looking in good shape going into the league season."

"In general we are quite positive – we have beaten the teams that are coming down into our division. We are going to be looking for improvement on last year and I am confident that as a squad we can get promotion."

Margate 0-2 Hendon

MARGATE lost their unbeaten record at home with an uninspiring performance that manager Robin Trott branded "disgusting".

Justin Skinner missed a penalty for the home side, who lacked spark throughout.

A fuming Trott said: "We were flat today. I could read the signs before the game – we came out with no belief."

"The first-half display was absolutely disgusting and I can't have that again."

The result kept the visitors' excellent start to the season going and sent them top of the Ryman Premier through goals from Rakathar Hudson and Wayne O'Sullivan, the latter despatching a penalty.

Despite their opponents' lofty position, Trott was frustrated that his side had not tested Hendon more.

He said: "They are a decent team – but not decent enough that we can't beat them."

Hendon didn't play particularly well today, but in the final third we were shocking."

Hendon led 1-0 through Hudson's goal after 16 minutes, but the home side were gifted with an opportunity to get back into the game when James Pinnock was brought down for a penalty just before half-time.

Skinner, who scored a brilliant long-range goal in the previous game against Chatham Town, smashed the spot-kick but saw Richard Wilmot make a brilliant save to his left.

Margate were second best after the break and the only surprise was that Hendon left it until the final minutes to score their second.

On 85 minutes Louis Smith brought down O'Sullivan in the box and he stepped up to convert the penalty.

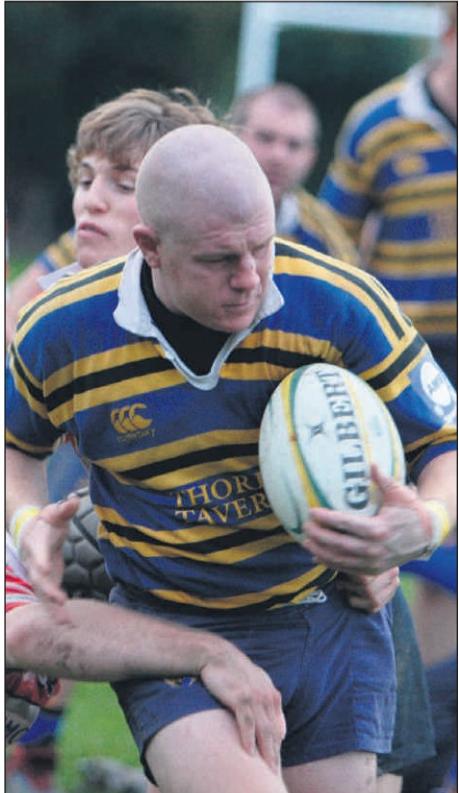

Margate were due to play AFC Wimbledon at Hartsdown Park last night.

CHUCKED: Thanet Wanderers lost against Civil Service, having thrown away a healthy lead

Careless Wanderers slip into bottom two

THANET WANDERERS threw away a healthy lead as they lost their third match in a row and slipped into the bottom two in the table.

Thanet started well and moved into the lead with a Tom Ash penalty and a brilliant individual Ed Merivale try from 75 metres out.

Civil Service regained their composure and came back into the game with a penalty.

The home side kept up the pressure but were unable to convert their possession into points.

Just before the half-hour Thanet struck on the counter-attack. After clearing their lines the ball came out to Yan N'Dong, who collected the ball inside the Thanet 22 and sprinted down his wing to score to put Thanet 15-3 ahead.

Civil Service responded with an important score just before the break as fly-half Lloyd Davies went over in the corner.

The conversion was missed to leave the score 15-8 to Thanet at half-time.

The home side carried their momentum into

RUGBY

Civil Service 20-18 Thanet Wanderers

the second half and scored a try within five minutes of the restart.

They edged ahead for the first time in the match with a converted try soon afterwards.

Thanet remained on the back foot, but thanks to good defensive play Civil Service were unable to extend their lead.

With 10 minutes left, Tom Ash brought Thanet back into the game with a penalty and he was unlucky not to score another with only two minutes left, which would have given Thanet the win.

Thanet are one of two sides at the bottom of London 1 without a point from their opening three games. They have the opportunity to get off the mark this weekend with a home game against Bishop's Stortford.

Packed fixture list as Sunday League kicks off

THE Belmonte Thanet Sunday Football League continues this weekend with a packed fixture list.

In the Premier Division top-of-the-league Albion Athletic are looking to carry on recent form when they take on Thanet Fascias.

In Division 1 the Westbrook Club will be looking to record another win over table-toppers AFC Ramsgate.

Social Moenchengladbach FC, bottom in Division 2, will be looking for their first win when they play Red Arrow Goldney FC.

The Gate are fishing for victory in qualifying tie

MARGATE Football Club will travel to Blue Square South side Fisher Athletic in the second qualifying round of the FA Cup this weekend.

After beating Chatham Town 3-0 in the last round, Margate will be hoping to spring a surprise over Athletic, who have started the season well, only losing three of their nine matches.

The tie will take place at Champion Hill in South London, the home of Dulwich Hamlet.

Hands-on goalkeeping lessons coming your way

FREE goalkeeping coaching will be coming to Thanet in the near future.

Just 4 Keepers goalkeeping schools have opened a new venue at Canterbury High School and will also be coming to Thanet.

Coach Andy Woodcock will host weekly sessions which cover all aspects of goalkeeping.

Coaches are fully qualified and CRB-checked. Sessions are also available in Canterbury and Dover. To book, phone Andy on 01843 604942 or 07976 587101.

Rams confident as they eye FA Cup progress

EARLY-SEASON high-fliers Ramsgate will host British gas Premier League side Corby Town in the second qualifying round of the FA Cup this weekend.

Corby Town overcame Barton Rovers in a first-round replay to set up this tie with Ramsgate, who dispatched fellow Ryman Premier side Hastings United in the last round.

Ramsgate have only lost two games so far this season and will be looking to carry on this run of form on Saturday.
